It was expected that Albany City Council adjourned in his memory last night.

Postal Rates Increase Next Sunday

Increased rates for all classes of mail except Parcel Post and International Mail will go into effect Jan. 7, the Post Office reminded postal customers today.

The new rates raise First Class postage to six cents an ounce, air mail to 10 cents an ounce, postal cards to five cents and air mail cards to eight cents. Another rate change that will affect the general public is the increase from four to six cents for the first two ounces for individual pieces of Third Class mail. Unsealed greetings cards may be mailed at this rate.

There will be no change in the fee charges for such services as special delivery, special handling, registered mail, certified mail, cash on delivery or insurance.

As soon as possible, conversion will be made of automatic stamp vending machines in Post Office lobbies to reflect new postage rates.

Note of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank Police Officer Ed Zenter, the firemen who came with the ambulance and my neighbors and friends, who were so kind following the sudden death of my husband, who died Dec. 18.

FIVE OF FAMILY SAVED FROM BURNING HOME

Mrs. Lewis Westbrook and her four children of 1080 Peralta were saved from flames which gutted their home at about 4 a.m. Saturday.

Apparently the fire was discovered by Westbrook, who raced through flames to call the telephone operator.

The operator called Albany Fire Department, giving the address and noting the children were trapped upstairs.

When firemen arrived they found Westbrook, former Berkeley policeman now employed in Internal Revenue, sprawled on the grass. His feet were burned from trying to get upstairs to his children.

As firemen raised ladders upstairs bedrooms to rescue the four children, Valerie, 14; Kevin, 12; Randy, eight, and Leslie, six, Captain Tom Brennan began search for Mrs. Westbrook. At first it was believed she was upstairs and "the smoke and heat were ungodly," Brennan said the stairway was burned away, but near the stairs, he found Mrs. Westbrook, overcome by smoke, in the tub in the downstairs bathroom.

"It's a miracle she was found," he said. She was rushed to Herriek hospital by Berkeley ambulance and is reported in fair condition with first second and third degree burns.

The children, who were all unharmed, were rescued by Assistant Chief William Hutt and Fireman Mike Koepke. Hutt suffered a cut finger, which requires five stitches.

A Berkeley fire truck and nine off-duty Albany firemen were called in to fight the flames which were described as "terrible with lots of smoke." All fire fighters used air tanks.

Snoopy, the family dog, was also rescued and revived with the inhalator, firemen report.

Damage, estimated at $20,000 makes it the worst residential fire in Albany in 1967. Firemen are still investigating the blaze.

Another Peralta Avenue fire broke out Dec. 29 about 6 p.m. at 1058 Peralta. Janet Lindgren reported a Christmas tree light popped and the tree went up in flames. Neighbors put it out with a garden hose before firemen arrived, but damage to the building was $2,500 and to contents, $1,400.

Roller Derby This Friday For Dimes

The ninth annual Roller Derby benefit for the March of Dimes begins at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Jan. 5, at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

A special guest at the game will be the 1968 March of Dimes Poster Girl, Punkie Perry, if she recuperates in time from recent surgery.

International Roller Derby League has raised some $25,000 for the March of Dimes through the previous eight benefits.

Jerry Seltzer, Bay Bomber general manager and Alameda County sports chairman for the March of Dimes, said the skate clash will pit the Bombers against the Northwest Cardinals.

Tickets are on sale at the Bay Ticket office, Kaiser Center Hall, Oakland; Oakland Coliseum box office; Sherman Clay in Hayward; all Sears stores; and the Crane and Downtown Center box offices in San Francisco. They are priced at $3.50, $2.50 and $1.50.

The game marks the opening activity in the 30th anniversary March of Dimes campaign.

Christmas Tree Pickup Saturday

A coordinated effort among Cub Pack 3, Boy Scout troop 12 and members of the Albany Fire Department should result in complete disposal of old Christmas trees and the accompanying fire hazard by Jan. 9.

Cub and Boy Scouts will pick up trees left in front of homes early Saturday, Jan. 6. They will ring door bells and donations would be appreciated by the civic-minded young men. Those missed may call Grove London, 524-1279, before 3 p.m.

Those who cannot take advantage of the Scout pickup may take their trees to Albany Landfill Saturday or Sunday, Jan. 6-7. The department will burn all trees there on Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Little Miss Flame Has Baby Brother

Debbie Clayton, Albany's Little Miss Flame, received a Christmas present in the person of Robert Colby Clayton, who was born Christmas Day at Alta Bates hospital.

The baby weighed eight pounds, seven ounces. Parents are Skip and Helen Clayton of 1107 Kains.

Light Agendas For Holiday Council Sessions

The Christmas and New Year sessions of Albany City Council found light agendas with very little business to transact.

Last night, Jan. 2, they read a letter from L. Cpl. John Worth thanking members for their Christmas greetings and were notified by Administrative Officer James B. Turner that Scouts will conduct a mock session Feb. 3 prior to the regular Council meeting. A public hearing was scheduled on 1325 Solano parking and an ordinance concerning removal of abandoned wrecked, dismantled or inoperative vehicles was up for second reading.

The meeting of Tuesday, Dec. 26, included letters from Mayor Ellis Olson of the Ellis-Olson Mortuary expressing thanks to the resolution on their 35th anniversary and from Pfc. L. G. Treacy thanking Council for their Christmas letter to servicemen in Vietnam.

Ernest Smith was approved as appointee to the Beautification and Improvement committee by Traffic and Safety commission and the ordinance regarding wrecked autos passed first reading. The meeting adjourned in 25 minutes.

THE BOB DENNISSES mailed Christmas cards to servicemen listed in the Times. They received replies worthy of sharing. From Jack Healy: "Thanks so much for remembering me on Christmas. With all the anti-Vietnam demonstrations in the United States, I sometimes feel as if the people at home don't understand the importance of our mission here. No matter how you view the war, thanks for not holding my role in it against me. Best wishes to your entire family for a joyous Holiday Season and a rewarding and Happy New Year."

From Richard Perry: "I'd like to thank you from the bottom of my heart for the lovely card I received at today's mail call. It makes me very proud to know that the citizens of Albany care enough for the sons of the community to remember them at this meaningful time of the year, when the family should be together as one and not separated by distance or time. Since, however, the family of the home as well as the family of the home town cannot be united at this time, the message expressed by this card states that everyone cares for the loved ones gone from the light of love that encircles them."

SUSAN MCSHEEHY, who is currently on a dream trip to Europe, wrote her parents that she had gone to Innsbruck, Austria, to watch the world-famous skiers but was disappointed. There was no snow! She is visiting various countries, was to have spent New Year's in Paris. She is a provisional teacher in Richmond school district and attends Cal State. Her pop, of course, is none other than Fire Captain Dick McSheehy.

APOLOGIES to Othelia Talley of 701 Johnson St., and other winners of the home decoration contest who apparently had not been told their displays had won prizes. We mentioned that Albany displays were mostly dark on Christmas night. Talleys were gone during the day, but had it turned on by 6:30, she reports, adding that she did not think she had won anything because they've always been notified before.

CHANGING THE SUBJECT. We can't get over the success of the Christmas card and letter project for our servicemen. Hope you've been reading their letters of appreciation as we publish them. And maybe you'll continue to remember these kids in 1968.

HEAD START YOUNGSTERS GET MEDICAL, DENTAL SERVICES IN BERKELEY

"Comprehensive medical and dental services for most of the 402 children enrolled in the Berkeley Unified School District's Head Start Program were carried out under the auspices of the Berkeley City Health Department this summer," Dr. Alvin R. Leonard, Director of the Berkeley City Health Department, announced.

"During the eight weeks of classes at Franklin, Columbus, Longfellow and Lincoln schools, all enrollees were expected to have a complete medical history and physical examination, except those who had had one recently. Those having access to private medical care through Medi-Cal, private insurance or Kaiser were referred to their own physicians. The remaining 144 were examined in the schools by a Health Department pediatrician," the health officer said.

"In addition to the physical examination, Health Department personnel made available a battery of vision, hearing, blood and urine tests to all of the children, as well as the University of California School of Dentistry mobile dental unit to provide preventive dental care to the children whose parents requested it. "Thirty-nine of 350 children (11 per cent) failed the vision screening tests. Only seven of these children had been previously thought to have vision problems.

"Nineteen of 328 children failed the hearing tests. Only three of these had been previously known.

"Of 297 children given a blood test for anemia, 14 (4.7 per cent) were found to be slightly anemic. For 10 of these children this was a previously unknown condition and they were referred to private physicians for further diagnosis and possible treatment.

"Screening tests for protein (indicating possible kidney disease) and glucose (indicating possible diabetes) in the urine were positive for only nine out of the 351 children examined. For four of the children the condition had been previously known.

"Supervised by their instructors, the U.C. dental students instructed their patients on good dental habits; cleaned the teeth of and applied topical fluoride to prevent tooth decay for 292 pupils.

"The dental students also examined the teeth of these children and found that 208 (71 per cent) had cavities; of these, 58 had "severe" dental carries. All these children were referred to private dentists for appropriate treatment. The cost of this dental care, in most cases, is being paid for from Head Start funds.

"A half-time physician supervised the program. She worked with a staff of one public health nurse coordinator, four half-time public health nurses—one in each

CALLING ATTENTION to the traditional March of Dimes mailers, which will be received in Alameda County homes the first week in January, are, standing, Albany Mayor Richard Clark and Berkeley Mayor Wallace Johnson. Seated with 1968 March of Dimes Poster Girl Punkie Perry is Piedmont Mayor Dean Hoskins, M.D.

Head Start school, and eight Health Program Aides—two in each school and the neighborhood served. This basic staff was ably assisted by Neighborhood Youth Corps workers in clerical and parent-liason work.

"Although some of the children with physical defects found last summer have already had them corrected, there are still many who need additional medical or dental care," Dr. Leonard pointed out. "City Health Department staff will work with their families as part of the follow through of the program, with the objective being to obtain treatment for all children in need of medical or dental attention. Head Start funds with which to pay for the medical and dental care of these children will remain available through March 31, 1968."

March of Dimes Campaign Opens

When Alameda County residents open their mail this week, they will find a message from the March of Dimes stressing the importance of education and prenatal care in the fight against birth defects.

"The need for funds is urgent," Sheriff Frank I. Madigan, county March of Dimes chairman said, "if continued progress is to be made in reducing the figure to 250,000 babies born each year with significant birth defects."

About 20 per cent of the funds raised in the annual March of Dimes campaign comes from the mail appeal the first of January, Madigan said.

Funds help support three March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers in Northern California, including the one at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Oakland.

Additional money supports scientists studying causes of and cures for a variety of birth defects, the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in La Jolla and to continue aid for those afflicted by polio before the vaccines were discovered.

The mail appeal opens the 30th anniversary March of Dimes campaign, which will be climaxed by the traditional Mothers March Jan. 29-30.

NECK TIE, SOCK NIGHT FOR LEGION POST 292

Albany post 292, American Legion, will stage the traditional neck tie and sock night at the meeting at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 5, at the Veterans Memorial building.

Members will parade wearing the neck wear and socks they received for Christmas. Judges, selected by Ernest Johnson, will award prizes for the most beautiful tie, the most drab tie, the most original tie (which may be the wearer's creation), the best match of neck wear and foot wear, and the tie and socks the judges believe were gifts of a mother-in-law. Light supper will be served by Past Commander Frank McLaughlin and egg nogs will be served after the close of business. Commander Alvin (Hap) Willis will report that Albany post has received a membership challenge from Berkeley post 7. The contest will close March 1. At this writing, Berkeley post is ahead of Albany. Winner will be hosted at dinner by the loser.

Woodshop, Upholstery Courses Open

New classes in both Woodshop and Upholstery, open to adults regardless of residence, are scheduled this winter quarter at the Albany Adult school. The Woodshop classes are held at the high school building, 603 Key Route Blvd.; upholstery, in the Marin school basement, Marin and Santa Fe Avenues. (Entrance to the basement classroom from Santa Fe Avenue.)

In both courses students must complete 12 hours of basic training before they may work on their own projects. The basic training in these courses is scheduled for five 3-hour sessions, 7-10, with students taking any 12 of the 15 hours offered.

The dates for the basic Woodshop course are Tuesdays and Thursdays, from Jan. 4 through 18. The dates for the basic Upholstery are Mondays and Wednesdays, Jan. 3. Previously-enrolled upholstery students may enroll in class on Thursday, Jan. 4.

Business Courses Are Offered Here

A well-rounded evening program in business subjects is available at the Albany Adult school, 603 Key Route Blvd., during the winter quarter, which opens Wednesday, Jan. 3. Those residing in or out of Albany may enroll in these and the other Albany Adult classes. All of the following classes are scheduled for 7 to 10 except Stenoscrypt, which will be from 7 to 9.

Two separate classes in Civil Service, with the same course content and both designed to prepare students to pass qualifying examinations for Civil Service positions, are scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays.

Beginning Stenoscrypt, a simplified ABC shorthand that utilizes letters of the alphabet rather than stenographic symbols, will be held on a twice-a-week basis, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Bookkeeping, covering levels of instruction from beginning through elementary accounting, will be conducted on Tuesdays.

Instruction in the use of business machines is scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays. Those enrolling may attend one or both evenings and may combine this course with typing during part of any of the two evenings.

The theory of Gregg shorthand simplified will be taught beginners on Wednesdays; the intermediate, advanced and out-of-practice students on Mondays will have dictation as well as the use of Norelco Speed-Development tapes. The range of speed is 60 to 130 words.

Beginning typing students will attend either one or both of the Tuesday-Thursday classes; the intermediate and advanced, either one or both of the Monday-Wednesday classes.

Laurance Cross Rhododendron

A new rhododendron has been named after the late Mayor of Berkeley, the Reverend Laurance Cross, "The Laurance Cross." The Laurance Cross rhododendron was developed by the Antonelli brothers.

It will bloom at Easter time with a beautiful red blossom. John and Nick Lasagna of Westbrae Nursery presented Northbrae Community Church with one of the plants. Last Sunday after the Christmas service, a dedication service was held for the new rhododendron at the Northbrae Community Church, conducted by Reverend Craig Jessup.

Reverend Cross was pastor of Northbrae Community Church for 42 years.

ITA Discussion By Expert For ACE Jan. 10

The best and latest methods of teaching beginning reading are extremely popular with educators, interested parents, and citizens everywhere.

One of the programs currently in use with noteworthy success in the teaching of beginning reading is the Initial Teaching Alphabet.

Dr. John Downing, one of the world's most outstanding men in reading research, will be guest speaker for Albany Branch of the Association for Childhood Education at Albany High school Little Theater at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 10.

His topic will be "Teaching Children to Read with the Initial Teaching Alphabet." All interested citizens in Albany and the Bay Area as well as professional staffs of neighboring school districts are urged to attend.

The Initial Teaching Alphabet, abbreviated i.t.a., consists of 44 letters, originally designed by Sir James Putnam, an English scholar. Each of the 44 letters in this system represents one and only one sound, and therefore presents a logical and consistent relationship between the letter and the sound for the beginner.

Two Albany first grade classes are now using i.t.a. in the teaching of reading with marked success, according to Albany Schools Curriculum Director William Woolworth. After the children have mastered the skill of reading in i.t.a., the transition is readily made to the 26 letter alphabet.

Dr. Downing, a pioneer in the research using i.t.a. with the schools of England, is visiting professor of education at the University of California, Berkeley, for 1967-68. He is senior lecturer in educational psychology and director of the reading research unit at the University of London Institute of Education. He received his Ph.D. in psychology from the University of London, has taught at several educational levels, has published a series of school textbooks, has written numerous articles, and has visited the U.S. frequently to discuss i.t.a.

The Albany branch of the Association for Childhood Education is honored to have the unusual opportunity of presenting a program of this caliber here.

They were married Dec. 24, 1927, in Reno, Nevada. Their daughter, Mrs. Leah Hawkins of Lafayette, the former Leah Bono, entertained relatives and friends at Mrs. A. Caletti's residence in San Rafael. A large anniversary cake, complete with bride and groom, plus 40 glittering candles and roses trimming the edges, was enjoyed by all.

Bono was at one time owner of a grocery store on the corner of Solano Ave. and San Francisco. He has been service representative with the Oldsmobile in San Francisco for the past years.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Gerfen (Martha Lynn Allen)

November rites, performed by Rev. A. Oliveira of St. Jerome's Catholic church in El Cerrito, unite in marriage Marsha Lynn Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Norman Allen, and David Lee Gerfen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Gerfen, all of Albany.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Marsha wore a gown of taupe de sole with a hand-clipped chantilly lace empire bodice. Seed pearls embroidered the bell sleeves and chantilly lace applied the front of the skirt and the wattleau chapel train. The veil, made by the bride, was of bridal illusion attached to two organly and pearl roses. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow baby roses.

Cynthia Allen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pale yellow gown with empire lace bodice and crepe skirt with a detachable lace train.

Research grants totaling $334,380 were announced today by the American Cancer Society's California Division.

William B. Forman, president of the Society's Alameda County branch, noted that more than half of the new grant funds will be used to study the possible relationship of hormones to cancer.

Included in the list of new grantees is Dr. Samuel Abraham, who is conducting studies of metabolic patterns in neoplastic and preneoplastic tissues at the Bruce Lyon Memorial Research Laboratory at Children's Hospital Medical Center, Oakland.

Dr. Abraham, whose one-year grant is in the amount of $29,975, has been investigating the metabolism of tumors with the aim of giving more meaning to the search for chemical agents for halting tumor growth.

"The more that is learned about the metabolism of tumor cells," he said, "the clearer is it becoming that there is no single characteristic pattern that will describe all tumors. For this reason, exact knowledge of the metabolism of each type of tumor is required."

Dr. Abraham received his Ph.D. in Comparative Biochemistry from the University of California, Berkeley. He is currently director of research at the Bruce Lyon Memorial Research Laboratory and continues as a faculty member in the Department of Nutritional Science at the University's Berkeley campus.

Dr. C. H. Li, former researcher at the University of California, Berkeley, and currently associated with the University's San Francisco Medical Center, was awarded a grant in the amount of $70,534 for a 12-month continuation of his already productive research into basic structural differences of growth hormones in man and other mammals.

The largest single grant was given to Dr. Stanley G. Korenman of Harbor General Hospital in Torrance. He received $91,045 for a two-year investigation of the biochemical and physiological roles of estrogens and progesterones in stimulating growth and development of secondary sex tissues in the female uterus and breast.

Two additional local grantees include Dr. Frederic C. Ludwig, University of California Medical Center, and Dr. C. J. Karzmark

BURGLARY

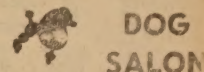

Edwin McCulloch of 1037 Pomona reported to police Dec. 27 that $583 in cash had been stolen from his home.

HOLDUP

An armed robber took $133.10 from the waitress at Der Wiener-schnitzel on Dec. 28, Albany Police report.

of Stanford University. Dr. Ludwig received $36,946 to study the relationship between radiation injury to bone marrow and leukemia virus infection. Dr. Karzmark will use his $22,705 grant for research in radiologic physics and radiotherapy.
